Overview

Product Display Rules allow you to configure a product to show or hide for specific registrants based on their characteristics or selections. This concept applies to both Membership Forms and Event Forms, and can be extremely useful for ensuring that the right registrants are presented with the right fees, without relying on them to choose the correct option upon registration.

The display of any given product on any given form can be conditionalised based on the registrant's:

- Member or Event Type
- Date of Birth/Age
- Gender
- Any combination of the above

Note: The below examples demonstrate the display rule options within the context of a Membership Form, however the same process can be applied to any event

Тор

Display Filters by Member Type

In GameDay, administrators can set up their own custom Member Types to apply to the first page of their registration form. Registrants can then select the option that best suits them. Using product display rules, we can ensure that the correct product is displayed to the registrant based on the Member Type selected, nullifying the need to create different forms for different types of members.

Scenario: Displaying products to Players, Coaches and Volunteers

Step 1: Edit your Membership Form

In the left-hand menu, select MEMBERSHIP FORMS

Find the form you want to edit, click the Actions menu, then click EDIT

Display Filters by Date of Birth/Age

You might also want to show specific fees to specific age groups. For example, you might charge a higher fee to Senior players (e.g. anyone over 18 years old) than Junior players (e.g. anyone under 18 years old). Using product display rules, we can ensure that the correct product is displayed to the registrant based on the date of birth they enter at the start of the form.
